

he global demand for mineral resources is increasing as are job opportunities in the mining industry. Work with students & faculty across colleges to help meet sustainability needs.

REGISTER FOR THESE COURSES TODAY!

MIN/MNE/GEOS/ENVS 226

A Balanced Future: Sustainability & Minerals

Examine the interconnected environmental, social, technical, and economic challenges of supplying mineral resources with zero harm.

MIN/GEOS/HWRS/MSE 236

Materials. Societies & Choices

Explore decision-making in the context of earth materials and the challenges that arise from the many diverse stakeholders.

MNE/ANTH/GEOS 201

Nonrenewable Resources & World Civilizations

Explore how civilizations have formed, extracted, & utilized resources, shaping historical events.

MNE/ENGR 422

Perspectives of Sustainability: Supplying Mineral Resources for Society

For students who wish to learn and engage in modern sustainable development practices with respect to engineering projects that have three areas of impact: economic, environmental and societal.

The Minor for ANY Major! The SMR Minor degree will help you stand out to employers seeking cutting-edge skills and interdisciplinary knowledge.

Scholarship Application Deadlines:

April 24th & October 10th annually

Scholarships are available to any major. Just declare the SMR minor, complete a brief online application and write a 500-word essay with a statement of interest in and importance of sustainability and diversity in mining and mineral resources.

Additional Eligibility Criteria:

Undergrad student • minimum GPA 3.0 • must be degree-seeking

Contact an advisor at mining@arizona.edu or visit the link below for more information:

https://mining.arizona.edu/undergrad-programs/sustainable-mineral-resources-minor

LEARN MORE & REGISTER

